About this Agreement

The Sponsorship Agreement is a good-faith agreement between Southeastern Seminary / Judson College and student sponsors which allows for anticipated payments from the sponsor to be recorded on a student account prior to the actual receipt of the funds. All students are financially liable for any outstanding charges due on their student accounts net of any anticipated payment. In the event a sponsorship payment is not received by the due date above the amount of the anticipated payment will be removed leaving the student immediately liable for any outstanding balance and any late fees that may accrue.

Southeastern will not monitor any conditional requirements between the student and the sponsor. It is the responsibility of the sponsor and student to validate any stipulations or conditions.
